

Ad Lib feeding is proven to be a very effective way of getting optimum growth and health performance from our replacement heifers. The ability to drink when they need it is not only beneficial to the calf, but also to the producers.

We realize that most commercial grade ad lib feeding systems are only available for group pen systems, but we have developed a system that allows for individually penned animals to receive the same.

As you can see in the picture below, there is a pipeline that circulates the milk constantly, and then feeds into each individual pen via a nipple at the center of the pen door.

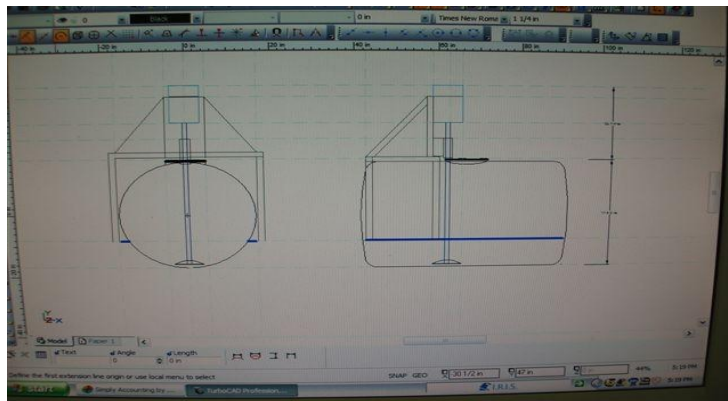

In this case, the feeding pipe is inserted inside the floor drain so it is not stepped on.
